

Subject: Creation of Standardization Cells

Dear

Indian National strategy for standardization (INSS) underlines the role of a harmonized, dynamic and mature standards framework in establishing a robust quality ecosystem in the country, and the need to position standards as a key driver of all economic activities relating to goods and services. INSS also flags the limitations of the present system of standard development and emphasizes the urgent need to create fora and processes to articulate and assess the needs for standards in different sectors. Standard National Action Plan (SNAP) visualizes Standardization Cells in the Industry Associations as an important fora to address this need.

2. Standardization Cells in the Industry Associations will facilitate consultations and dialogue among the members of the industry as well as with the professional bodies, scientific organisations, academic institutions and domain area experts related to that field on the identification of new areas for development of standards, revision of existing standards and harmonizing Indian Standards with International standards, and will also help in optimizing the involvement of industries in the standard development process and better coordination with Bureau of Indian Standards.

3. One important goal set out by INSS is the development of Service Sector standards. This is a far more challenging task, but needs to be taken up in real earnest in view of the role of standards in shaping the export competitiveness of various services sectors. It involves developing both horizontal and sector-specific vertical standards in the champion sectors identified by the Government. Industry Associations have to play a key role in this regard.

4. One important area that will be benefited immensely by the creation of Standardization Cells is the implementation of Indian Standards. BIS has formulated more than 20,000 standards so far, covering a wide range of products, processes and services for various sectors of economy. There are more than 350 Sectional Committees working to formulate new standards and revise the existing ones. It is a matter of concern, however, that less than 10% of the Indian Standards have licenses issued against them. It is quite possible that a significant number of standards, relating particularly to test methods, code of practices etc., are being followed by the industry and a number of product standards also are being referred to by them even without a license from BIS, it is imperative to take pro-active measures to ensure greater implementation of Indian Standards. This entails active participation of the industries in both the standard formulation Process and implementation of Conformity Assessment Schemes. Their participation will help the Central Ministries/Departments and BIS in ensuring that the Conformity Assessment infrastructure operates with demonstrated high integrity and efficiency.

5. I request you, therefore, to create the Standardization Cell in your Association with representation from members of the association and the relevant professional bodies and domain area experts, and share a copy of the circular/notification issued in this regard with the undersigned. It will be highly appreciated if the information can be shared latest by 28th February, 2020.

6. BIS has decided that the Heads of each of the Standardization Cells in the Industry Associations will be notified as a member of the Sectional Committee/Committees constituted for the goods or services related to the Industry Association. Besides, the Wide Circulation Drafts in respect of a new or under – revision standard will be sent to each of the members of the relevant Standardization Cells. BIS also intends to organize training for the members of the Standardization Cells as per the programme jointly worked out with the respective Industry Associations.

7. You are further requested to share with us a complete list of the members of Association with the details of their office bearers and contact details (Telephone No. and Email id) along with a copy of the circular/notification regarding creation of Standardization Cells. This will enable BIS to keep them updated with the latest development in regard to development of Standards and Conformity Assessment Schemes.

8. For any further information or clarification in this regard the undersigned or Shri Sanjay Goswami, Sc. F, (Telephone No. 9811045007 and Email Id – ssd@bis.gov.in) may be contacted.

With regards,

Yours Sincerely,

(D. K. Agrawal)
